

Don't stop the public from getting a great source of information. If the big companies want to keep their companies then they should boost up their services.